The Bank of the West has joined the Chairman's Roundtable's list of sponsors.

The Bank of the West is the second-largest commercial bank that is based in California. It provides commercial, small-business and consumer loans, and offers cash-management products, international banking services, interest rate hedging products and investment services. It possesses $55 billion in assets and targets middle-market businesses with revenues between $2 million and $25 million.

The Chairman's Roundtable is a San Diego-based organization that provides free business advice and mentorship to local, private businesses. It comprises more than 40 current and retired chief executives from diverse industries, and more than 150 companies have used the organization's services.

"CRT provides the advice and guidance management teams need to grow, and Bank of the West provides the capital and an extensive array of banking services needed to fuel that growth," said William Burzynski, vice president of the bank. He, along with Vice President Cyrus Vafi, will act as the bank's representatives to the CRT.
